

Park Ridge Organics 2020 Season

Things to know about working at Park Ridge Organics:

- Many farm tasks are time sensitive and require a high degree of efficiency. Awareness of time spent on tasks and working at a fast pace while maintaining a standard of quality are an important part of the job.
- Weather is everything in farming and working in the weather is no joke. Unless there is lightening or an ice storm, we are likely working in the fields. Proper rain gear and clothing are a must, also a positive attitude is needed even during those not-so-nice weather days.
- Quality is what our business has been built on. Our customers have a certain expectation and it is up to everyone working at the farm to help maintain that quality and hence maintain our customer base.
- We are Certified Organic which requires a certain degree of understanding of the National Organic Program standards. Workers will be responsible for record keeping related to our certification and must understand its importance.
